KITES FOR KIDS

May 13, 2023

10AM-3PM

Carnegie Science Center

Join KidsVoice for our signature event, KITES FOR KIDS, on Saturday, May 13, to raise awareness and crucial resources to protect our most vulnerable citizens—abused and neglected children.

Kites for Kids gives children in foster care a fun day of learning and exploring at Carnegie Science Center alongside the community at large.

KidsVoice in the Community

KidsVoice advocates for thousands of current and former foster youth each year. These populations are especially at risk right now as the ripples of the pandemic have led to critical shortages across the social service sector, from a lack of foster homes to staffing issues at behavioral health clinics. Your support is as important as ever.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Bringing Hope to Our Most Vulnerable Citizens

who you will help

I'm 10. I live with my three brothers, a foster sister, and foster parents. We like to make things together. We will be adopted this year.

I am 14 years old. I live in a group home. I miss having my own bedroom and playing video games with my old friends. I hope I can go home soon.

Why kites?

Kites symbolize the potential for a child to soar and a hope for a world full of happy childhoods.
