KITES FOR KIDS

May 18, 2024

10AM-3PM

Carnegie Science Center

Join KidsVoice for our signature event, KITES FOR KIDS, on Saturday, May 18, to raise awareness and crucial resources to protect our most vulnerable citizens—abused and neglected children.

Kites for Kids gives children in foster care a fun day of learning and exploring at Carnegie Science Center alongside the community at large.

KidsVoice in the Community

KidsVoice advocates for thousands of current and former foster youth each year. We are here to protect our clients' rights in the courtroom and address their most pressing needs, such as timely access to mental health and medical services and battling pandemic learning loss. With your support, KidsVoice helps these youth find hope, confidence, and a chance to develop to their full potential.

Bringing Hope to Our Most Vulnerable Citizens

who you will help

I am 14 years old. I live in a group home. I miss having my own bedroom and playing video games with my old friends. I hope I can go home soon.

I am in first grade. I live with my foster parents, two foster brothers and a foster sister. I like singing, music, and art. I get to see my mom once a week.

Why kites?

Kites symbolize the potential for a child to soar and a hope for a world full of happy childhoods.
